TRUANT TROUT.

Curious Facts About Fish—The Toughness of Trout—Have Fish a Sixth Sense?—A Very Interesting Letter.

B. B. Redding, one of the fish commissioners of California, and a prominent member of the San Francisco Academy of Sciences, writes to the Chicago Field as follows:

At the base of Mount Shasta, on the Sacramento river, near its source, George Campbell has a hotel, which is a place of resort for hunters of bears and deer, and for fishermen of salmon and trout. The hunting and fishing are good in all this region. His hotel is also famed for the spring of soda water near it. The water of this spring is among the coldest and most palatable in the state. To keep up the supply of trout in the river in the vicinity of the hotel, Mr. Campbell has constructed an artificial pond in his grounds, about half on acre in extent. Into this pond he places fully mature trout as they are caught, his object being at the proper season to strip them and artificially hatch the eggs. The pond is supplied with water from the river through a board flume, about a foot square, open at the top. This is about a fourth of a mile in length. The water runs through the flume at a speed of about and falls into the pond from the lower end of the flume a distance of twe feet. There are screens to retain the fish at the entrance of the flume, and also where the overflow of the pond makes its escape. About one-third of the distance from the pond to the river there runs a small stream on the ground which passes under the flume, and at right angles with it, and so on to the river. The flume is four feet above the water in the rivulet at this point. Mr. Campbell found that he was losing the trout from the pond almost as rapidly as they were placed in it, and for some time could not discover the cause. At last, by watching, he found that the trout for some reason were dissatisfied with the pond and were escaping.

THEY WOULD JUMP FROM THE POND

two feet up into the flume, swim against its current until they came to that part of it under which the small stream was passing, when they would leap out of the flume and fall into this small stream, and so escape into the river. They did not jump out of the flume at any other point—only into the water flowing beneath the flume. Until he procured another screen to put on the end of the flume where the water fell into the pond, he was compelled several times daily to catch the trout out of the small stream beneath the flume and place them back in the pond. I was with him when he caught eight trout from this place, and put them again in the pond. I examined the ground personally, and saw that none had jumped out of the flume at any other point.

HAVE TROUT A SIXTH SENSE

that we do not comprehend? How did they know when they reached the place in the flume beneath which the water was flowing, that there was an independent stream of water four feet below them? If they had ever jumped out at any other point, I could see an explanation. When the milt and spawn of the salmon begin to mature, as they are feeding about banks in the ocean, miles from the land, and the instinct of reproduction manifests itself, what is the sense that teaches them the course to the Golden Gate, and then up the Bay of San Francisco to the Sacramento River, and then up the Sacramento hundreds of miles to Pitt River, then up the Pitt to the McCloud River, and up the McCloud to some tributary where they are born, and which they left as fingerling parrs three years before? Has it any relation to the sense by which the trout knew when to jump out of the flume?

ANOTHER CURIOUS ITEM ABOUT TROUT and their inability to withstand heavy pressure, has been communicated to me by Mr. Louis Glass, secretary of the Spring Valley Mining and Irrigating Co., of Cherokee, Butte county, Cal. To quote from his letter: "Our ditch from Concow Valley is about twelve miles long, and at its lower end we have a pipe, two and a half miles in length, laid in the form of an inverted syphon, crossing a depression, where the perpendicular pressure in the discharging arm of the pipe is 856 feet, something less than 400 pounds pressure to the square inch, and yet trout came through quite freely, and we have caught them in the ditch leading to the hydraulic grants quite frequently." It would seem from this that trout have similar powers to that of deep water fish in withstanding the pressure due to great depth. The publication of these facts may call the attention of others to similar facts that have fallen within their observation, which in time may lead to an explanation of what now, to me at least, is marvelous if not mysterious.

She Tried a Glass.

A Napa belle, attending an entertainment recehtly given in Vallejo, complained in one of the scenes that the light was too dim to show the acting properly. "Won't you try this glass?" asked her escort, handing her his lorgnette. Hastily covering the suspicious looking object with a handkerchief, she placed it to her lips, took a long pull, and handed it back in disgust, saying, "Why, there is not a drop in it!"

The Return from Leadville.

From the Burlington Hawkeye.

"Why is it," asks a correspondent, "that if Leadville is as hard a place as you describe it, we never see any of the people who go there come back?" Oh, well, that is easily enough explained. When a young man sets out for Leadville, he arrays himself conspicuously for a day or two prior to his departure, then he has the fact of his going and the train he will take announced in the village paper, and at the appointed time he goes rattling down to the depot in an open carriage two hours before train time, and swaggers up and down the platform while he waits, and as the train goes off he leans out of the window and yells a personal goodbye to everybody on the platform. But when he comes back he times his return so as to strike his native town by a back road, after dark, then he sneaks home through the alleys, climbs over the back fence, taps at the kitchen window and begs, under his breath, to be let in, and when he gets in he stays in bed three or four days, while his new clothes are being made and the doctor is trying to count the blisters on his feet. Oh, it's easy to explain why we never see them come back; but they do come back all the same.

The Price of Beer.

From the New York Sun.

Although the prices of most articles of living have sensibly declined, that of beer continues—at least in the hotels and saloons—what it was before 1873. A glass of lager costs 5 cents, about a third of it being usually froth, and in a first-class restaurant a pint of Milwaukee or Cincinnati beer is from 15 to 25 cents. It is difficult to comprehend why the prices of this beverage should rule so extravagantly high. The glass of lager which here costs 5 cents would in Germany cost 2, and in England a glass of the best Bass's ale would cost a cent less than the glass of lager here, while in the most expensive hotels and restaurants a pint of Bass in bottle would never be more than 12½ cents. Milwaukee and Cincinnati beer are retailed here by the dozen at 90 cents, so that the charge of from 15 to 25 cents exacted by the hotel keepers is a monstrous percentage of profit, which ought to be immediately abated.

Dr. Mintie's Nephreticum.

DR. MINTIE'S NEPHRETICUM works wonders. In all cases of Dropsy, Bright's Disease, Kidney, Bladder and Urinary Complaints, or Retention of Urine, these troubles are entirely cured by the Nephreticum. Female Weakness, Gravel, Diabetes, pain in the back side and loin are cured when all other medicines have failed.

See what the Druggists of Portland and San Francisco say about Dr. Mintie's Nephreticum and English Dandelion Pills:

"We have sold a large amount of Dr. Mintie's medicines; the English Dandelion Pills; also the Nephreticum, and in all cases they are highly spoken of and give entire satisfaction."

John A. Childs, Druggist, Second street, Portland.

C H Woodward & Co., Druggists, corner First and Alder street, Portland.

Messrs. Abrams & Carroll, wholesale, Druggists, Nos. 3 and 5 Front street, San Francisco, say:

A GOOD MAN IN TROUBLE.

The misfortunes of W. H. Murray have afforded the little wits of the press a fine opportunity for scandal and detraction. Mr. Murray has been well known for many years as an eloquent preacher of Boston. With a great love of nature and a fondness for field sports, he explored the Adirondack wilderness of New York, and afterwards wrote a book about the region, which made both it and himself famous. His fondness for the horse induced him to make a close study of that noble animal, and out of his knowledge of horseflesh, he wrote a book entitled "The Perfect Horse," a work which, added to his reputation. Recently Mr. Murray embarked in the manufacture of buckboard wagons, an enterprise in which he hoped to retrieve his losses in other business. He lost money in the Golden Rule newspaper and in his stock farm in Connecticut. For the sake of rest or on business, Murray went to California about a month ago. During his absence his farm was attached by some of his creditors. Down came an avalanche of slander, ridicule and abuse upon poor Murray's head. How easy it is to kick a man when he is down! From the New York Times we clip a specimen of the prevailing style of comment:

"Mr. Murray started in life as a single person, to wit, a minister of the gospel, and by degrees took to himself some other characters much worse than the first. His first effort at combination was the attempt to combine the Gospel with fish, and to be at once a minister and a sportsman. He went to the Adirondack region, then the most delicious of wildernesses, and was so delighted at his success in catching fish that he immediately wrote a book about it. This alone proved that he was a bad sportsman, and had failed to learn the lesson of reverent silence that nature gives to the true sportsman when she discloses to him the secret of a lovely trout stream or the haunt of deer."

The idea that a man cannot be both a good minister and a good fisherman is ridiculous. Angling has been the favorite recreation of many of the best men of whom history gives us any account. But the Times goes on to make it appear that Murray is a bad sportsman because he wrote a book about the Adirondacks. That is to say, when one finds a good place to hunt and fish, he should be a hog, and keep the knowledge to himself. If to write up the Adirondacks was unsportsmanlike, then old Isaac Walton, "Kit North," and "Frank Forester," and other distinguished writers of our own day have been unsportsmanlike. It would appear, if the Times is right, that to be sportsmanlike is to be selfish.

The Times further on refers to Murray as a horse-jockey. A certain class of people, who have no appreciation or liking for horses, fail to distinguish between horsemen and horse-jockeys. A horseman is one familiar with all that relates to horseflesh, a "jockey," one who practises the petty tricks of horse trading and management. Many cultivated gentlemen devote much time to the study of horses, and find their chief recreation in driving. Time spent with horses is often more profitably expended than when passed in the society of a certain kind of deacons. But the complaint against Murray is not so much that he owned horses, but that he knew a great deal about them and drove them fast. There is some doubt as to what gait is orthodox. Six miles an hour may be. Murray who drove 2:40 horses, is deemed guilty of heterodoxy and worldliness because he speeded on the road. Why slow driving should be a characteristic of piety, it is hard to say. But it may be remarked that the ministers who drag on the road, usually drag in the pulpit.

SALT MAKES IT TOO STRONG.

The trouble with fish stories is not the lack of veracity in their relation, but the great want of faith in the hearer or reader. This general incredulity is deplorable, inasmuch as it retards the progress of the science of ichthyology. The GAZETTE and the Record-Union having published some carefully verified narratives, showing the highly exceptional degree of vitality of certain phenomenal fishes, the Times-Review gives the following to the world:

One of Tuscarora's citizens, while fishing at Rock Creek, caught a Humboldt trout, which he wanted to preserve on account of its large size, to show to his friends in town. He pounded up some ice, and adding a couple of handfuls of salt, wrapped the trout in a blanket, surrounding it with the ice and salt. On the following day he returned to Tuscarora, and late in the evening opened the package, and was surprised to find the fish frozen as hard as a piece of marble. Throwing it into a bucket of water to clean it, he was astonished to see signs of returning animation, and in less than half an hour his troutship was swimming around as lively as when in his native stream, from which it had been taken more than thirty hours before.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

The yellow fever excitement in the south has added to the negro exodus until it has become almost a rout. The poor darkeys are flocking to Kansas, where there are no preparations for them, and no employment or means of subsistence. The probabilities are that there will be a great deal of suffering among them this Winter.

Elko, Winnemucca and Tuscarora get ice from the Truckee.—GAZETTE.

Not Tuscarora. Ours comes from our own crystal Owyhee. Truckee ice is too strongly flavored with tar to suit the average Tuscaroran palate.—Times-Review.

A little tar, laid on with a feather or two, would do Tuscarora good, if reports are correct.

Tuscarora is being canvassed for subscriptions "for the purpose of constructing water works to be supplied with water from the Grand Prize mine." The object is to protect the town from fire. Tuscarora is to be congratulated upon the possession of such an unfailing source of supply as that afforded by the Grand Prize.

The Lyon County Times says that there were over two hundred bilks without tickets on the excursion train to the Caledonian picnic. The Times, however, does not state how many bilks there were with tickets.

STATE NEWS IN BRIEF.

Aimee's troupe travels with ninety trunks.

Carson's "Siamese" twin chickens have been sent to Woodward's.

So great is the travel between Carson and Bodie that two stages are run daily.

Eureka has a wretch who stabbed a cow to satisfy a grudge against her owner.

Winnemucca shipped 29 car loads of cattle to San Francisco the first of this week.

Says the Tribune: "This class of night prowlers is becoming too thick in Carson, and some effective means should be employed of ridding the town of their presence." Try tar.

The familiar notice at Wells:

WALK !!!

A young woman calling herself Mrs. F. A. Fremont, arrived at Winnemucca one year ago, where she gave birth to a boy. The other day she deserted the child and left for parts unknown. The infant will be sent to the Orphans' Home at Carson, unless adopted.

One of the owners in the Paige and Kelly mine at Good Hope, informed the Times-Review that his partners and himself had sold the above named property for the sum of $40,000. George Henderson, of Tuscarora, was the purchaser, and the property is to be incorporated by San Francisco parties.

"Dublin Mary" attacked with her tongue Isaac McConnell, a bankrupt broker, as he was coming out of the Carson court-house on Tuesday. As he was trying to escape, she attempted to finish him with a pistol, but was promptly arrested—that is in the course of an hour or two, as soon as the police could be found and awakened.

The Piutes are very much interested in the fandango which is announced to begin here next Sunday, says the Silver State. They have sent messengers to all parts of the State to invite braves to attend, and the chiefs say there will be at least 500 Indians here next week. Some of the Shoshones and Washoes have been invited and all who can raise money enough to buy a sack of flour and a quarter of beef will come. The fandango will be held on the river bottom below town.

Ogden is entering the field in competition with San Francisco for the trade of Eastern Nevada and Southwestern Idaho. A lot of merchandise from a wholesale house at Ogden, was unloaded at the depot in Winnemucca for Silver City, Idaho. It looks to the Silver State as if Ogden ought to have the advantage of San Francisco in furnishing Eastern goods at wholesale to merchants in the interior of Nevada, as San Francisco is 463 miles west of Winnemucca, and merchandise has to be shipped there and back; yet, for some reason, nearly all Nevada merchants make their purchases in San Francisco.

All Quiet at Eureka.

From the Sentinel of yesterday.

There were no new developments in the coal war yesterday, and both parties apparently agreed to a truce. In the morning Del Bondio, the President of the Coal Burners' Association, was taken before Justice Cromer, charged with fermenting disturbances and inciting riot and other lawless acts. He was held in $1000 bail, and his trial set for some day next month.

A very fine article of peat has been found near Provo. It is being put on the market at six dollars per cord, and one cord is said to equal two cords of wood. It burns well and makes a very hot fire.

A Beaten Boy Shoots His Father.

The Silver Reef Miner states that John Pickering, Piute county, gave a whipping to one of his sons, a boy aged about twelve years. The boy turned upon his father and told him that that was the last time that he would submit to a chastisement, and that he would leave home never to return. Next morning the boy got up and sent his younger brothers to the pasture for the calves. His father was yet in bed, asleep. The youth slipped on his father's shoes, walked out into the road through the dust, so as to make a man's tracks, then went back to the house, took his father's pistol and, making a rest of the back of a chair, shot him through the heart. The parricide then went to Jim Marshall's ranch, about five miles distant, and told Marshall that John T. Mathias, the stage driver, had shot and killed his father. Subsequently the boy became frightened and confessed his crime.

An Impertinent Paragraph.

From the Sacramento Bee.

Muybridge, the eminent photographer, has succeeding in photographing men running and walking, taking some twelve impressions in a second, thus showing all the movements of the limbs. He has also taken a series of pictures of an athlete in the act of raising an 150-pound dumb bell over his head, photographing accurately each muscle as brought into play. If the plate could stand the shock, what a benefit to science and to humanity would it not be if Mr. Muybridge could succeed in catching the varied expressions that instantaneously flit across the face of the wife when "hubby dear" comes home from the lodge at 2 A. M. in a state of blissful unconcern whether his boots should be placed under the pillow, or his watch be thrown under the bed?

—The cooling Budweiser was flowing in the office of the GAZETTE to-day, and toasts were drank to the health and happiness of Mr. Belz and bride.

— The Aimee Opera Company came down from Virginia last night on a special train and went East on the overland. They perform at Salt Lake next.

—A picket fence is being put up around the space at the intersection of the two railroad tracks near the Depot hotel. The inclosure will soon be green with grass.

—J. W. Graham, Civil Engineer and Supt. of track between Winnemucca and Sacramento, has been very sick with pneumonia. He was taken from his home in Colfax to the sea coast yesterday morning.

—The fire in the Sierra, near Crystal Peak, burned brightly last night. It has spread over a large space, and after dark might be mistaken for the fires of an immense circular encampment. To-day a great cloud of smoke hangs low in the west, through which the mountains can be dimly seen.

Clark not Gone for Good.

The Enterprise said this morning that "the trouble between the Mechanics' Union and the Virginia and Truckee Railroad Company has finally been amicably settled. Tom Clark retires and a man belonging to the Union takes his place. Tom ran his engine down to Reno last evening, the man who is to take his place going down on the engine with him. The new man takes charge of the engine at Reno." The Enterprise was misformed. Clark has gone on a visit to Lake Tahoe, some say Sacramento, but has not permanently left the road. Meanwhile his place is filled by a new man.

JONES & KINKEAD MINE.

A Satisfied Inquirer—Past and Present Work—Good Indications—The Outlook Encouraging.

The quiet management of the Jones & Kinkead has led a certain class of persons to question the real merit of this mine. In fact, a shareholder who even had visited the mine and seen a number of assays from its ores feared that he had made a poor investment and determined to have assays made by parties unknown to the owners and unacquainted with the property. A reporter of the GAZETTE had an interview with this cautious shareholder and also obtained the following facts from the secretary of the company, and from Mr Kinkead, one of the principal owners in the mine. The assay read: Silver, $223.66. Mr. Huntley, the assayer, says that he at first regarded the ore as very low grade and presumed it more or less base, but the test to which he subjected it gave

MOST SATISFACTORY RESULTS.

"The Jones & Kinkead reddish ore was principally oxide of iron and silica, and from the little I had I judged the silver was in the form of chloride and would amalgamate very easily." It will be remembered by the readers of the GAZETTE that some two hundred tons of this ore was worked at the English Mill near Reno and was found to mill free, yielding, according to Mr. Kinkead, about $47 to the ton. A part of this milled ore was carried from the batteries through the Stedefeldt furnace, thus thoroughly roasting the ore; but that which was amalgamated direct from the batteries gave equally if not better results, clearly demonstrating that the Jones & Kinkeak ore is free milling.

WHAT IS BEING DONE.

The ore in question was chiefly taken from a stope extending from a drift in the 330 level. In this stope the writer saw eleven and a half feet of ore which averaged near $100 to the ton. A large body of ore, it was presumed, would be found in the 400 foot level, but as soon as the miners struck the ledge the water rushed in upon them so fast that they barely had time to escape with their lives. Mr. Jones, who was on this level at the time, considered himself lucky to reach the surface. Thus it will be seen that all rumors of a pinching out of the ore body in the 400-foot level are merely fanciful, since nothing whatever is known as to the ledge body on this level.

THE EXPENSE OF WORKING

the mine through a main shaft, with bad air to contend against, and the delays occasioned by repairs—there being no machine shops or large mining stores at Pyramid—led the owners to change their method of working the mine. A tunnel was commenced last year and to date extends 560 feet into the hill. The length of this tunnel when completed will be 1000 feet and will intersect the ledge 540 feet below the surface. Three weeks ago deficient air in the tunnel led to a suspension of work, but the following simple device has been successfully employed to purify the air. A pipe, the length of the tunnel, extends along the side of the tunnel track. The pipe fits air tight into a simple rock and mortar furnace, and a stack 10 to 20 feet long extends upward from the furnace. The stack or chimney pipe creates a draft, drawing all the impure air from the face of the tunnel. When a blast is set off a little fire is made in the furnace, which increases the draft and quickly clears the tunnel of the smoke from Hercules powder.

SEVERAL ORE STRINGERS

have been intersected and the mine owners think that a ledge of considerable magnitude will shortly be cut. The character of the rock in the face of the tunnel further confirms this belief. Narrow strata of black dike, harder than the rocks of Gibraltar, and more unyielding than porphyry, alternate with softer rock and an increased flow of water, are now feared at the face of the tunnel.

THE OUTLOOK

for the Jones & Kinkead is certainly encouraging, and one may reasonably anticipate a handsome return to the shareholders for all the money which they have and will be called on to expend. The development of this mine thus far has been most economical, and the managers, Messrs. Jones, Kinkead and Leete, who are also the principal owners, purpose to continue the work on their mine with as little outlay as is truly economical. They are honest men, mean business, and their work is speaking for itself.

A Little Premature.

The Carson Appeal of yesterday has the following:

"It is unofficially stated that on the first proximo there will be a change made in the time table of the V. & T. R. R. The lightning train is to be drawn off, and the regular west bound passenger is to leave Virginia at 3 P. M., instead of 6 P. M. The return passenger will leave Reno at 8 A. M., a half hour later than at present."

The agents of the railroad companies here have not been informed of any such changes. The above statement is probably mere guess work. One thing is certain; the change will not be made until the new ferry boat gets to running across the straits. That will perhaps not be for two months yet. Until the Central Pacific time table is altered, the V. & T. trains will no doubt run as usual.

SEWING MACHINE MACHINATIONS.

How a Reno Lady Got Caught by a Tricky Agent—The Righteous Verdict of the Jury in the Case.

Mrs. Johnson of Reno had an old sewing machine, out of order. A traveling agent called at her house and sold her a Singer sewing machine for $85. He took the old machine in part payment, at a valuation of $30, and she paid $20 down in cash. The balance of $35 was to be paid in installments of $5 per month. She signed, as she supposed, an agreement to that effect. As time went on she paid all but $5 of the balance due on the machine. One day recently the agent called, during the absence of Mrs. Johnson, and demanded of her daughter payment of the $5 then overdue. The amount not being forthcoming, he locked up the Singer, sent for an expressman, and had it carried away. Mrs. Johnson afterwards tendered payment of $5, the balance due, but the agent refused to receive it and give up the machine.

SO SHE BROUGHT AN ACTION

against the Singer company in the court of Justice Young. At the trial the Singer agent put in evidence the agreement she had signed. It proved to be simply a contract "to rent" the machine at the rate of $5 per month. There was no word in the agreement respecting sale. According to its provisions the lady might have kept on paying $5 a month until doomsday and yet acquire no title to the machine. The case came up for trial yesterday, and the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the Singer company must either give up the machine to Mrs. Johnson or refund her $80, the total amount she had paid on it. A stay of proceedings for five days was asked and granted by the court.

MARBLE FOUND.

An Immense Ledge of Marble in the Sierra—A Vein 300 Feet in Width, and Cropping Out for a Mile.

J. N. Mullen, of Pyramid Lake, and Judge L. T. Heath, of Mayberry's, returned last night from a prospecting trip into the mountains. Some parties in California had employed Mullen to hunt for marble, and Heath knew where they was an immense outcrop of it on the western slope of the range. So they joined forces and started out together. Without much difficulty Heath found the ledge, which he says he located fourteen years ago. Its average width is 300 feet, and it can be followed for over a mile by bold croppings. The ledge is situated in Sierra county, California, five or six miles from Meadow Lake, near the Nevada county line. The deposit is not more than

TWENTY MILES FROM THE RAILROAD.

There is plenty of water and abundance of timber in the neighborhood. Ample water power can be had within a mile and a half from the quarry. Specimens of the marble were shown a GAZETTE reporter, and a sample can be seen at this office. The grain of the rock seems very fine. In color it approaches to white, with a bluish or slaty tint. Much of it is said to be finely veined. As the specimens were very small, and taken from the surface, they do not make fair samples of the quality of the marble. A road to the deposit can easily be made to connect with the railroad. This large ledge of marble, from its great extent, apparent good quality and accessibility, may prove to be of great value.

The Little Valley Dam.

The Franktown Water Company is about to build a dam in Little Valley, about three miles west of Franktown. In its advertisement for proposals, which appears in another column of the GAZETTE, contractors are notified that no Chinese can be employed.

SIMMOND'S MEDICATED NABOB WHISKEY

Has been sold in all the Eastern States and given universal satisfaction.

It is highly recommended by the faculty for all cases of Nervousness, Weakness, Debility, Dyspepsia, Indigestion, etc.

It is now introduced to the public of the Pacific Slope indorsed by the following certificates of the eminent Dr. S. Dana Hayes, State assayer of Massachusetts, and Dr. H. C. Louderback, of St Louis, Mo., both gentlemen prominent in their profession, and which is a guarantee to all buyers of its purity and quality.

I can show thousands of letters from private persons from all parts of the Union and Canada, to testify to its merits and the benefit it has afforded, as a family remedy and tonic.

Osburn & Shoemaker agents for Washoe county, will supply dealers at jobbers' rates by the bulk or case. may5tf

Also for sale by Pinniger & Queen, Druggists, and by John F. Myers, Druggist.

WHY STAY POOR?

Prospecting often Pays; Idleness Never.

The millions of the Comstock were a lucky find. Worthless looking rock is often rich in treasure. At Leadville a simple assay made millionaires of many. Other bonanzas where least suspected await the coming of some unknown man. Who is he?

At Virginia City, Nevada, assays for Gold and Silver are made at $1.00 per sample, by CONRAD WIEGAND, formerly the Supervising Assayer of the U. S. Mint at San Francisco.

The mail will carry ore-samples to his office for one cent per ounce.

Reports which may be relied on absolutely, come back by return mail, or results are telegraphed when ordered so.

All costs, delays and risks in remitting money are avoided by the purchase of our Dollar Remittance Tickets, which pay for all work done in our establishment.

We sell these prepaid tickets at a discount, when $5 worth or more are ordered at one time.

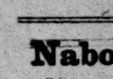

Small sacks for mailing ore samples also for sale at a nominal price.
